Dear Greg,

Thank you very much for your time yesterday. I enjoyed seeing you and Kathy again, and I felt the meeting was a very productive one.

As we discussed, Trek does not have any problem with you making general comments regarding the negative affects of the doping on the sport and the positive steps being done to address it. just do not publicly comment on specific athletes. Commenting on specific athletes is not good for you, Trek or the LeMond brand. If you are subpoenaed to testify in any judicial proceedings we understand you must do so and do so truthfully. We want to move the public perception back to Greg LeMond, first American to win the Tour, three-time Tour winner, overall great-guy and someone who cares deeply about the cleanliness of the sport. Please let me know if you agree.

Based on our meeting, I would very much like you to come down to Trek soon to meet with me and Trek's marketing/product people to put together a plan for the LeMond business as we move forward. I look forward to putting things back on track.

Let me know when you are available in April or May to visit Trek and discuss a business plan for LeMond.

Best personal regards,

TREK BICYCLE CORPORATION
